

Mendelssohn Practice Files

All the files for Mendelssohn's Hymn of Praise were created from John Hooper's midi files which you can view on his website Learn Choral Music. I have used John's files for many pieces of music.

Keep in mind that this piece has no movements. Some (all?) of the practice files include a few measures from the preceding section of the score.

If you would like to slow the practice files down I can recommend Anvil Studio or Midi Play for Windows. You can search for Mac midi players. I can't test them but do check older versions which may slow the music down or third-party software. If you find something better please let me know.

I convert the midi files to MP3 format with Windows software AVS Audio Converter.

If there are particular files you would like me to slow down, please let me know.
